HSTAM 231 A: Race, Identity, And The Ancient Mediterranean World

Meeting Time: MTWTh 9:30am - 10:20am

Location: MEB 250

SLN: 15501

Joint Sections: 2020, winter, CLAS, 231, A

Instructor: F. Mira Green

Catalog Description: Explores ancient authors' perceptions of others (foreigners, "barbarians," people on the margins of their known-worlds, slaves, etc.) alongside current scholarship on ancient perceptions of race and identity. Also examines how different groups/nations in nineteenth/twenty-first centuries used their views of Greek and Roman societies to make modern claims about race, white privileges, and power. Offered: jointly with CLAS 231.
