History Lecture Series 2018 Comes to a Close - Final Video Here!

Submitted by Emma R Hinchliffe on February 1, 2018 - 1:24pm

Professor Reid takes to the stage.

The Historical Roots of Indigenous Activism in the Era of Standing Rock - History Lecture Series

Last night Professor Joshua Reid brought the 2018 History Lecture Series, Speaking Truth To Power: Protest and Dissent in Modern History, to a close with a talk on Indigenous Activism in the Era of Standing Rock.

Professor Reid spoke on the deep history of indigenous and native activism and asked a packed audience ‘where do you sit in supporting indigenous efforts to speak truth to power?’

See the full video here.

The Department of History would like to thank everyone who made this year’s series another success. Check back here in the comings weeks for a digest of the series.

People Involved: Joshua L. Reid

News Category: Alumni Community Impact Lectures and Events