Google workers make waves with new labor union

Submitted by Arts & Sciences Web Team on January 14, 2021 - 11:45am

This week's move by more than 200 workers at Alphabet to form a union is being seen as an alternative framework for organizing at other Silicon Valley giants. Margaret O'Mara, professor of history at the UW, is quoted.

Featured on The Hill

Source URL: https://history.washington.edu/news/2021/01/14/google-workers-make-waves-new-labor-union