Undergraduate Student Resources

We are compiling a list of resources to assist students through the impacts of the COVID-19 crisis here: Student Resources in Times of Need.

Begin your exploration of history with the UW Libraries via the History research guide -- a wide-ranging site with links to databases, e-journals and websites for historical research. You can also follow the History librarian on Facebook for the latest news and information. Contact Theresa Mudrock, the History Librarian for research advice.

Are you looking for an announcement that went out on the History Majors listserv? Search the listserv archive!

If you have questions, please contact the History Undergraduate Advising Office.

Follow the links for more information on these undergraduate resources.
